

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. # LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE STATE LIBRARIAN,
DES MOINES, IOWA, June 30, 1908.

TO THE HONORABLE ALBERT B. CUMMINS,

Governor of Iowa and President of the Board of Trustees of the Iowa State Library:

Sir: I have the honor to submit for your consideration my report for the year 1908, covering the last biennial period included between the first day of July, 1906, and the thirtieth day of June, 1908.

NUMBER OF BOOKS IN THE LIBRARY.

At the date of my last report, June 30, 1906, there were of record in the miscellaneous and law departments of the state library, 92,870 volumes. On the thirtieth of June, 1908, the number had increased to 102,371 volumes. The accessions in the historical department are published in a separate report as provided by statute. The sweeping changes made in the library by the removal of all books in the miscellaneous department, except sociological works including documents, from the capitol to the east wing of the historical building, with the tentative nature of the shelving in both the new and the old quarters, renders it necessary to defer the more specific report as to the several sections of the miscellaneous library until another biennial period, when the status of the several sections will have become practically settled for at least a term of years.

REMOVAL OF MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENT.

Since the date of my last report, the east wing of the historical building having been completed and supplied with book-stacks, furniture and fixtures, the removal above referred to was, by approval of the library board, effected. The actual transfer occurred in March of the present year. The removal and shelving of about fifty thousand books was accomplished within a single week, and without confusion. In fact there was no time during the process when an assistant was unable to hand out any book called for. To facilitate the work of legislative reference to which the last general assembly wisely committed the library, the documents, state and national, and general works classified as "Sociology," were left with the law department in the capitol building.

This tentative division of the miscellaneous department has thus far been, in the main, satisfactory, though further experience may suggest a modification of the plan. The books, pamphlets and periodicals removed to the new building are classified as follows: General Works, Philosophy, Religion, that portion of Sociology classified as Customs, (including Folk-lore); Philology, Natural Science, Useful Arts, Fine Arts, Literature, History,—including Biography, Geography and Travel.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE.

The Thirty-second General Assembly, House of Representatives, almost unanimously passed a bill creating a fourth department of the state library, to be called The Legislative Reference department. The measure was defeated in the senate, not from any special objection thereto, but because of the lateness of the session and a consequent inability to give it the consideration to which it was deemed entitled. The assembly did, however, give the state library a legislative reference assistant, with no funds other than those which are regularly appropriated for the state library. The librarian has freely recommended, and the board has approved, the purchase of sociological works directly, or indirectly, valuable for legislative reference work, thus to some extent withdrawing funds from other classes of books in the miscellaneous department.

The needs of legislative reference are not confined to books. To make the work effective there should be something more than a collection of books, with references thereto. The work of this incipient department should be co-ordinated with that of the three other departments of the state library. The legislative reference assistant during the past two years has amply justified her appointment, by the collection of much valuable pamphlet material, also references to subject matter of legislation in books and periodicals, building up a card catalogue of great value for future reference. The curator of the law department has rendered the legislative reference assistant valuable aid in placing at her disposal, and at the disposal of legislators, the laws of the several states, in full and in epitome, as desired, and in various other ways. But neither the legislative reference assistant nor the curator of the law department is able to re time and attention to exhaustive research work in connection with the various subjects of legislation which are sure to occupy the attention of each succeeding general assembly. The great need legislative reference work is, in my judgment, a man at its head who can bring to the duties of the office the close application of a student of law, of politics, and of history, also the training of a scholar, the trained instincts of a collector, and a knowledge of practical legislation and of public men and measures; and withal good judgment and tact in the contact with legislators, legislative committees and the public. Such an official would bring to the aid of individual legislators and legislative committees not merely a mass of information, but, of far greater value, an accumulation of thoroughly classified material bearing upon the various subjects under consideration in the general assembly; and, too, much valuable aid and suggestion to legislators and legislative committees desiring both information and assistance, in preparing and perfecting legislation.

I would urge the president and other members of the library board to do all in their power to bring this pressing need of the state to the attention of the Thirty-third General Assembly, to the end that a measure similar in purpose to that which passed the House two years ago, but larger in scope, may next winter become a law.

THE ARCHIVES DEPARTMENT.

The close relation of the archives department and the historical department, with the desirability of uniting the two under one system and one board management for future historical research work must be apparent to every member of the board, and to none more than the president of the board, the governor of the state. I would recommend, therefore, that the Thirty-third General Assembly be asked to transfer the Hall of Archives to the historical department of the state library.

COMPLETION OF THE HISTORICAL BUILDING.

I would further urge upon the president of the board the immediate necessity of completing the interior of the historical building. While the working rooms of the new building are finished and furnished for use, the lobby remains unfinished conveying to the visitor an impression which does far less than justice to the building, to the successive general assembly under whose direction the building has been brought to its present state of efficiency, and to the executive council under whose direction it was erected and has been made ready for occupancy.

I would also recommend that the niches in the rotunda and at the sides of the porch be filled with artistically high-grade statues or busts of great men who have done most to build up our commonwealth; and that the interior walls be decorated in keeping with the high standard set by the executive council in the decoration of the state house.

CATALOGING.

During the biennial period (July 1906, to June 1908,) of the 7,139 volumes added to the library, 5,507 have been cataloged, the remaining number being state and government documents.

The following additional work has been accomplished by the library cataloger, with the aid of other members of the library force:

- (1) A third complete inventory of the library.
- (2) An author catalog for books classed as Sociology," and classified as "300s," with the exception of "Folk-lore." (390.) This was necessitated by the division of the library, which left this class of books at the capitol at the time of the removal to new quarters in the historical building. This additional work was accomplished by the library cataloger, only by dropping the regular work as far as possible, and by the very considerable assistance of other members of the library staff. This catalog alone, without subject cards, necessitated the writing of 2,716 cards, in addition to other work involved.
- (3) Assigning serial numbers to the sheep-bound set of government documents. The "serial number" scheme for these documents was worked out in the "Check List of Public Documents from the 1st to the 53d congress," published in 1895. Since that time a serial number has been placed on all such documents before distribution. By means of this "check list," we have been able to give to all documents published before 1895 the particular number assigned to them. This has made available for ready reference over 3,000 documents which heretofore could be referred to only in a most laborious way. The complete set with comparatively few breaks, numbering over 5,000 volumes, is now shelved in chronological order, and the various government indexes, referring to them by "serial number," make available an immense amount of valuable material.

ADDITIONAL ASSISTANTS NEEDED.

The necessity of additional assistants, consequent upon the recent division of the library and the enlargement of the space occupied by the several departments of the library, must be apparent. The claims of the law and document department in the capitol building are set forth by the curator in his report to the librarian. The need of two additional assistants in the miscellaneous department, occupying the east wing of the historical building, is pressing. This department includes two floors and a middle, or "mezzanine," floor. I have only two assistants for service on these floors. During the recent illness of one of my assistants, the other was, in a measure, dependent on voluntary assistance. As it is, I am compelled to leave the entire upper floor without anyone in charge, though many of the most valuable books in the library are on that floor. Additional assistance would then better enable the present force to arrange, bind and shelve scientifically, the valuable mass of material consisting of foreign publications, scientific reports, periodicals and pamphlets, now temporarily occupying the shelves on the second floor.

Members of the library board, members of the legislature, and the public generally scarcely realize the volume of detail work incident to the development of a collection of books into a modern state library, fully down to date. To say nothing of the numberless details of the work of the librarian as a book-buyer in the markets of the world, and in handling the finances of the three departments of the library, the work which directly devolves upon his assistants includes a vast amount of detail. All books and periodicals purchased are closely examined, or collated, with a view to the discovery of imperfections, if any, and every deviation from the librarian's order is reported. The new books are classified, cataloged and shelf-listed. The books as well as every number of the many periodicals received must be collated and the pages cut. Each volume must be supplied with book-plate inside the cover and label outside before it is ready to be classified. Books offered for sale in catalogs marked by the librarian for purchase are checked by references to the card catalog, and to recent orders to prevent duplication. Record is kept of temporary loans of books (which can be spared) to the library commission, to the college, school and city libraries of the state, and of the return of same. Literary, scientific, and other periodicals are arranged for shipment to the book-binder and record is kept of same and a check made of their return from the binder and of their condition when returned. Pamphlets held for preservation are grouped along consistent lines and bound and cataloged for future reference. The fast increasing volume of general reference work done by the library force is not confined to the state capitol nor to the members of the legislature. In the course of a year many hundred student essayists, orators, and debaters make pilgrimage to the state library to avail themselves of its resources, and every mail brings requests for information on a wide range of subjects, to all of which due attention is given and answers are sent. All this, and much more, in addition to the work of attendance on the wants of the general public. This mere outline will convey to the board some idea of the necessity which prompts me to make a modest request for two more assistants for the miscellaneous department of the library.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

Hon, Johnson Brigham, State Librarian:

DEAR SIR—Since the removal of the miscellaneous portion of the State Library to the Historical Building the Law and Document Departments have adjusted themselves to the new situation and find the result very satisfactory. We are now able to shelve all the volumes, thereby clearing up the chaotic condition that has existed for some years. Contrary to general opinion, there are not many vacant shelves in the library. I estimate there is comfortable growing room for five years. We now have the books most used on the lower floors, thus making it more convenient and accessible.

There is a greater demand upon us for extensive reference and research work and it is imperative that the legislative reference work be greatly extended. Many letters are being received—a good indication for the increasing usefulness of the library.

ACCESSIONS.

Twenty-three hundred and sixty-two volumes have been accessioned to the law library during the biennial period. Of this number quite a few sets have been completed and valuable works added.

The sum now appropriated for the law library is not sufficient to acquire many out of print publications that should be found upon our shelves and I would ask a special appropriation as hereinafter mentioned.

CATALOGING.

Since my last report the work of recataloging the law library has progressed slowly, owing to the limited help at our disposal. Many sets have been card cataloged with cross references, making available the principal contents and a record under subject and author arrangement.

BINDING.

The question of binding is one that is uppermost in the mind of the law librarian and is one which deserves serious thought. Already the death knell has been sounded for sheep or skiver cover, and buckram is taking its place. For the past five years experiments have been made with various kinds and colors of buckram, which have proven reasonably satisfactory. Until recently only an English buckram was considered suitable; but at this time American manufacturers are producing a fabric which is excellent and quite satisfactory. The government at Washington has been making a series of experiments or tests upon all kinds and grades and have found a buckram which is manufactured by Joseph Bancroft & Sons Co., Wilmington, Delaware, and which measures up to the high standard required. It will be adopted for use on all government documents.

One of the disadvantages heretofore has been the variety of colors, weave and quality. Now that these problems are being satisfactorily adjusted it is only a question of time when buckram will be the universal law binding.

EXCHANGE.

Each year adds to our exchange list; we are now reaching into the colonial possessions and the islands of the sea. It is still difficult to reach many of the English colonies, though occasionally they yield to pressure. Whenever we can accomplish an exchange it makes a substantial saving to the library, as their laws and reports are expensive and not a few of them are of private publication. The most recent and notable set obtained by exchange is the Acts of New South Wales, 1840 to date, splendidly bound, in nine large volumes.

ADDITIONAL HELP.

The Law and Document Departments have grown to such proportions that the present staff is unable to cope with the situation. At the present time two of us are doing the best we can to make available the sixty odd thousand volumes. After attending the needs of the public, cataloging, indexing, arranging the law books and many details incident thereto we have but little time to gather up the thousands of reports and proceedings of the several states and societies that should be upon our shelves. To do full justice we should have two additional assistants.

CLEANING OF THE LIBRARY.

The cleaning and sanitary condition of the library is one of the perplexing questions which confront us. Not only is it expensive, but under the old system is very inconvenient and unsatisfactory. There is a vacuum dusting machine which is operated by electricity and which can be moved from place to place about the room for cleaning carpets, books or shelving. I understand these machines are practical and I would offer this question for your consideration.

LIGHTING.

The present system of gas lighting is very poor and wholly inadequate for public use of the library after darkness sets in. I would recommend that steps be taken toward having electric lights installed, as are used in other parts of the Capitol Building.

APPROPRIATION.

I am very desirous of a five thousand dollar ($5,000.00) special appropriation for the Law Department, to be used in the purchase of early statutes and session laws of the several states and territories. Also constitutional convention journals and debates and sets of legal periodicals which should be found upon our shelves. Beside the purchase of the above there are several thousand volumes that need rebinding. Our present fund is inadequate to make as many purchases in this line as we should make, for you are aware that the limited editions of early publications are fast becoming exhausted, and the prices are advancing each year. The sooner we make these purchases the better it will be—not only in having these volumes upon our shelves and accessible to the public, but it will save money in the purchase price.

CONCLUSION.

Our hopes are for greater things. As our facilities increase the demands upon us will correspondingly increase and the library will become one of the higher educational institutions of our State.

I wish to express my appreciation to you for the uniform courtesy I have received at your hand; and to Mrs. Russell, my co-worker, much of the success of my department is due; also, to my associates in the other departments of the library.

Respectfully submitted,

A. J. SMALL,
Law Librarian.

Following this general report is a detailed financial statement, showing the receipts and disbursements of the librarian under the direction of the library board, for the three departments of the state library, and for other funds passing through his hands.

The financial statement is followed by an author list of books acquired by purchase, exchange, and gift, in the miscellaneous library, also a list of books acquired by the law department during the last two years. The additions to the historical department will be published in a separate report. The distinctively legislative reference works are included with those in the miscellaneous department, the librarian's purpose being, not to create a new library, but to utilize such books in the library as may be required for legislative reference work.

The figures and letters used before each item in the list of miscellaneous books, indicate to the librarians of the state the judgment of the state library cataloger as to the scientific classification of each book.

I am pleased to acknowledge my continued indebtedness to curator Small of the law department, to acting curator Harlan of the historical department, and to their associates, also to my assistants in the miscellaneous department, for their helpful co-operation in developing the usefulness of the library in its relations with the supreme court, the bar of the state, state legislators, state executive officers, the student body of the state, and the general public; also to the president and members of the library board for counsel and support in my endeavor to execute the trust committed to my keeping.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHNSON BRIGHAM,
State Librarian.
